Dear :

This is in response to your May 9, 2005 letter and other correspondence concerning the gift and income tax consequences of Taxpayer's proposed renunciation of her unitrust interest in Trust and irrevocable designation of the charitable beneficiary or beneficiaries in Trust.

The facts and representations are summarized as follows. Taxpayer established Trust, a charitable remainder unitrust (CRUT), on Date 1. Trust was funded with a shares of Corporation common stock. The trustees of Trust are Taxpayer's three daughters.

Paragraph First (1) of Trust provides that in each taxable year of Trust, the Trustees shall pay Taxpayer during her life a unitrust amount equal to the lesser of: (a) Trust income for the taxable year, as defined in section 643(b), and (b) x percent of the net fair market value of the assets of Trust valued as of the first day of each taxable year of Trust. The unitrust amount for any year shall also include any amount of Trust income for such year that is in excess of the amount required to be distributed under (b) above to the extent that the aggregate of the amounts paid in prior years was less than the aggregate of the amounts computed as x percent of the net fair market value of Trust assets on the valuation dates.

Paragraph First (3) provides that upon the death of Taxpayer, the Trustees shall distribute all of the then principal and income of Trust (other than any amount due the Taxpayer or the Taxpayer's estate under the provisions above) to such one or more organizations described in sections 170(c), 2055(a) and 2522(a) in such proportions or amounts, as Taxpayer shall at any time and from time to time designate (a) by written instrument, duly executed and acknowledged, and delivered to the Trustees during Taxpayer's lifetime or (b) by Taxpayer's will. The designation made by Taxpayer's will, or if no such designation is made, then the last such designation so delivered during Taxpayer's lifetime shall govern. If any organization(s) named in the governing designation is not an organization described in sections 170(c), 2055(a) and 2522(a) at the time when any principal or income of Trust is to be distributed to it, then the Trustees shall distribute such principal and income to the remaining one or more organizations which are described in sections 170(c), 2055(a), and 2522(a), if any, proportionately, but if none of such organizations is an organization described in sections 170(c), 2055(a) and 2522(a) at the time when any principal or income of Trust is to be distributed to it, or if no designation is made, then the Trustees shall distribute such principal and income to Foundation, a State not-for-profit corporation, to be added to Fund. If a distribution to Foundation as above provided would not qualify under sections 170(c), 2055(a), and 2522(a) at the time when any principal or income of Trust is to be distributed, then the Trustees shall distribute such principal and income to such one or more organizations described in sections 170(c), 2055(a), and 2522(a) as the Trustees shall select in their sole discretion.

Paragraph First (7) provides that the operation of Trust is to be governed by the laws of State.

It is represented, that at the time Trust was created, Taxpayer had no intention to divide the unitrust and remainder interests as a method to avoid the partial interest rules of section 170(f).

Under State law, if Taxpayer renounces her interests in Trust, the renunciation will accelerate the remainder interest. See Case 1 and 2.

Taxpayer proposes to renounce her interests in Trust, i.e., her right to receive any future unitrust distributions of income and/or principal from Trust and her right to make further charitable beneficiary designations and then Taxpayer will irrevocably designate one or more charitable organizations described in section 170(c), 2055(a), and 2522(a) as the remainder beneficiary or beneficiaries of Trust (Irrevocable Renunciation and Designation).

Taxpayer and her daughters, as trustees of Trust, will file an action with the probate court having jurisdiction over Trust requesting that the court rule that Taxpayer has the right to renounce her unitrust interest in Trust and that, as a result of the renunciation, the remainder interest will be accelerated and all principal and income remaining in Trust at the time of the renunciation (other than the final prorated unitrust amount that is due and payable to Taxpayer) will be immediately payable to the charitable organizations irrevocably designated by Taxpayer as the remainder beneficiary or beneficiaries.

You have requested the following rulings:

- 1) Taxpayer will be entitled to a gift tax deduction under section 2522 for the value of her unitrust interest and the remainder interest in Trust transferred as a result of her execution of the Irrevocable Renunciation and Designation.
- 2) Taxpayer will be entitled to an income tax deduction under section 170 for the value of her unitrust interest in Trust transferred as a result of her execution of the Irrevocable Renunciation and Designation.

LAW AND ANALYSIS

Rulings 1 and 2

Section 170(a)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code allows as an income tax deduction any contribution or gift to or for the use of organizations described in section 170(c), payment of which is made within the taxable year.

Section 170(f)(2)(B) provides that no charitable contribution deduction is allowed for the value of any interest in property (other than a remainder interest) transferred in trust unless the interest is in the form of a guaranteed annuity or a fixed percentage distributed annually of the fair market value of the trust property, determined annually, and the grantor is treated as the owner of the interest for purposes of applying section 671 (relating to grantor trusts).

Section 170(f)(3)(A) provides that a contribution (not made by a transfer in trust) of less than the taxpayer's entire interest in such property is not allowed as a charitable contribution deduction except to the extent that the value of the interest contributed would be allowable as a deduction had such interest been transferred in trust.

Sections 1.170A-6(a)(2) and 1.170A-7(a)(2)(i) of the Income Tax Regulations provide that a deduction is allowed for a contribution of a partial interest in property if such interest is the taxpayer's entire interest in the property, such as an income interest or a remainder interest. If, however, the property in which such partial interest exists was divided in order to create such interest and thus avoid sections 170(f)(2) and (f)(3)(A), the deduction is not allowed.

Section 1.170A-1(c)(1) provides that, if a charitable contribution is made in property other than money, the amount of the contribution is generally the fair market value of the property at the time of the contribution.

Section 1.170A-1(e) provides that if as of the date of the gift a transfer for charitable purposes is dependent upon the performance of some act or the happening of a precedent event in order that it might become effective, no deduction is allowable unless the possibility that the charitable transfer will not become effective is so remote as to be negligible.

Section 2501(a) imposes a tax for each calendar year on the transfer of property by gift during such calendar year by any individual.

Section 2511(a) provides that the tax imposed by section 2501 shall apply whether the transfer is in trust or otherwise, whether the gift is direct or indirect, and whether the property is real or personal, tangible or intangible.

Section 25.2511-2(c) of the Gift Tax Regulations provides, in part, that a gift is incomplete if and to the extent that a reserved power gives the donor the power to name new beneficiaries or to change the interests of the beneficiaries as between themselves unless the power is a fiduciary power limited by a fixed or ascertainable standard. Thus, a gift would be incomplete to the extent the donor retains the power to designate the beneficiaries of the gift, even if the power retained is limited to designating charitable beneficiaries. See e.g., Rev. Rul. 77-275, 1977-2 C.B. 346.

Section 25.2511-2(f) provides, in part, that the relinquishment or termination of a power to change the beneficiaries of transferred property, occurring otherwise than by the death of the donor (the statute being confined to transfers by living donors), is regarded as the event that completes the gift and causes the tax to apply.

Section 2522(a)(2) provides that, in computing taxable gifts for the calendar year, there shall be allowed as a deduction the amount of all gifts made during such year to or for the use of a corporation, or trust, or community chest, fund, or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Section 2522(c)(2) provides that where a donor transfers an interest in property (other than an interest described in section 170(f)(3)(B)) to a person, or for a use, described in section 2522(a) or (b), and an interest in the same property is retained by the donor, or is transferred or has been transferred (for less than an adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth) from the donor to a person, or for a use, not described in section 2522(a) or (b), no deduction shall be allowed under this section for the interest which is, or has been transferred unless--(A) in the case of a remainder interest, such interest is in a trust which is a charitable remainder annuity trust or a charitable remainder unitrust (described in section 664) or a pooled income fund (described in section 642(c)(5)), or (B) in the case of any other interest, such interest is in the form of a guaranteed annuity or is a fixed percentage distributed yearly of the fair market value of the property (to be determined yearly).

Situation 1 of Rev. Rul. 86-60, 1986-1 C.B. 302, considers whether a transfer to charity by the grantor, A, of a charitable remainder annuity trust of A's entire retained annuity interest qualifies for the gift tax charitable deduction. Following the transfer, A did not retain any interest in the trust, and neither at that time nor at any prior time did A make a transfer from the trust for private purposes. Although the transfer of the remainder interest to charity divided A's prior interest, that transfer was for charitable, not private purposes. Consequently, A's transfer of the annuity interest to charity was not required to be in a form described in sections 2522(c)(2)(B) and 25.2522(c)-3(c)(2) in order to qualify for the charitable deduction. Accordingly, A's transfer of A's annuity interest to charity qualifies for a deduction under section 2522(a). Further, A's transfer qualifies for an income tax charitable deduction under section 170 because although A had previously divided the interest A held in the property, the division was not to avoid section 170(f)(2)(A). Thus, under section 1.170A-7(a)(2)(i), A's transfer of A's entire life annuity interest qualifies for an income tax deduction under section 170.

On Date 1, Taxpayer established Trust, a charitable remainder unitrust. Taxpayer is the beneficiary of the unitrust interest. Because Taxpayer retained the right to designate the charitable remainder beneficiary or beneficiaries of Trust, the Taxpayer did not make a completed gift to charity of the remainder interest, for gift tax purposes, at the time Trust was created.

Under the proposed transaction, Taxpayer will renounce her unitrust interest in Trust. Then Taxpayer will irrevocable designate a charity or charities as the remainder beneficiary or beneficiaries. When Taxpayer designates the charitable remainder beneficiary, the Taxpayer's gift will become complete for gift tax purposes, and the charity or charities designated will receive the entire interest in Trust outright. As in Situation 1 of Rev. Rul. 86-60, Taxpayer will donate her entire interest in Trust to charity and, following the transfer, Taxpayer will not retain any interest in Trust. Accordingly, we rule that Taxpayer will be entitled to a gift tax deduction under section 2522 for the value of Taxpayer's unitrust interest and the remainder interest in Trust and Taxpayer will be entitled to an income tax deduction under section 170 for the value of Taxpayer's unitrust interest in Trust.
